

Science White Paper Comment Review Form

We welcome your input on this June 25, 2012 draft of the Science White Paper, prepared for the Washington Blue Ribbon Panel on Ocean Acidification. Please use this form to submit comments to [REDACTED] by July 13, 2012.

Many of the elements of this first draft are still rough; figures, for example will be professionally reformatted following this comment period. For now, please focus comments on the content and overall readability of this paper and ignore finer points about the language and style. We are interested in knowing the following:

- Are the paper’s key conclusions clearly identified and easy to understand?
- Is the information in the paper presented clearly? If there are there topics or sections that are not clear, what would help you understand it better? (include any suggested figures or tables where appropriate)
- Are there additional scientific topics or questions you feel should be addressed in this paper?

Please enter your name, professional affiliation, and comments in the table below (adding additional rows as necessary). Email the completed form (saved as a Word document) to [REDACTED] by July 13, 2012.

Name:	Affiliation:
General Comments:
1.
2.
3.

You can add more lines for comments by hitting the “tab” key at the end of the row.

Specific Comments:
Chapter	From Page	From Line	To Page	To Line	Comment

You can add more lines for comments by hitting the “tab” key at the end of the row.